

Guidoni USA

Guidoni acquired in 2019 a new plant with an area of 250.000 m² and 70.000 m² of covered area in the city of McRae, state of Georgia in the United States. Each line will have the capacity to produce 12.000 slabs per month (270.000 m² month), of Super Jumbo size (134'.64" x 77'.56"), two and three centimeters thickness. New high-tech equipment and machinery from Breton was purchased for this plant, which will have four monochromatic and multicolored lines, also featuring robots for the manufacture of marble look slabs. The plant is scheduled to start operations in the second half of 2020.

The installation of the new Quartz plant in the United States is in line with Guidoni Group's vision of exponential growth, aiming to operate in the global market for surface solutions.

Guidoni Spain

Guidoni has been present in Narón, Spain, since 2015. The plant has the capacity to process around 22.000 slabs of quartz per month (120.000 m² month), two and three centimeters thick, and is focused on the development of new colors and patterns. With the implementation of the second Breton line, the production capacity has doubled and is currently at 1.000.000 m² per year. This new Breton line delivers what is the most modern and current in equipment and machinery, with production lines for slabs made by robots and the manufacture of Jumbo slabs (130'.71" x 64'.96").

Own Quarry

Guidoni Group is the largest producers of Ornamental Stones in Brazil. The Group owns more than 40 own quarries and has a capacity to extract 15.000 m³ of stone blocks per month. A reference in the use and development of cutting-edge technology in block extraction, Guidoni Group guarantees capacity and continuity in the delivery of blocks and slabs materials for large-scale projects, both in Brazil and abroad. The range of products extracted from its quarries are the most exclusive and versatile, ranging from classic granites, quartzites to the most noble marbles.

EXOTIC NATURAL STONES

The exotic granites present an aesthetic exuberance that charms due to the beauty of the organic patterns, shades and exclusive designs, making the natural materials true works of art sculpted by the action of nature over the years. These materials present a wide versatility of applications and possibilities of bookmatch, which allow unique architectural projects: from unique vertical panels to countertops and furniture tops that give a unique design to the pieces. Featuring an intense range of different colors, exotic stones can also compose floors, staircases, carved sinks, etc., making the materials the main highlights of the projects.

QUARTZITES AND MARBLES

A noble, versatile and very resistant stone, quartzite has gained more and more space in decoration projects by combining the refined and sumptuous aesthetics of marble with the high resistance of granite, which enables a wide variety of applications, ranging from coverings and panels to stone furniture. Because it is a very resistant raw material, quartzite can also be carved in a personalized way, creating unique patterns for each project. Guidoni marbles have a level of mechanical and chemical resistance much higher than ordinary marble, and can be easily applied on indoor floors, in addition to benches in humid environments, vertical panels and also in the execution of various pieces of furniture. This is because they concentrate the dolomite mineral, which makes them almost chemically inert and more resistant to impacts.

CLASSIC NATURAL STONES

Monochrome stones with few aesthetic interferences and a base in soft and neutral colors are a classic in decoration. The option for natural stone is due to the fact that the element extracted from nature has great durability, resistance and ease of maintenance and cleaning, making the stones ideal for floors, especially in areas with high flow of people and loads.

TOPZSTONE

by Guidoni

Topzstone products offer high technology combined with aesthetic standards that meet the most diverse projects, from classical to contemporary. With clean aesthetics, the line presents wide versatility and possibilities for architects and final consumers, which allows sculpting vats and countertops in a single piece, and the coating also appears on fronts and walls, acting as a unique decorative finish, which extends vertically the countertop. With the constant evolution of the coverings market, new finishing options are created to meet the different needs of consumers: differentiated colors, unique sizes and versatility of use are some of the most important points when choosing the material. Developed with the latest technology, the coverings bring the purity of quartz as an almost exclusive raw material, which guarantees perfect finishes.
